7 THINGS YOU CAN FIX ON YOUR WEBSITE IN
THE NEXT 7 DAYS TO INCREASE CONVERSIONS.

PRITAM ALUGADE

Introduction

Stop wasting time on the Internet!

This is my hope for you. Like most business owners, you probably spend endless hours on the internet, looking for possibilities of doing business online. After all, the internet is a game changing tool for collecting leads, attracting customers, growing a business, finding sta , providing awesome customer service and building communities.

It is also true that most of us fail dismally in our online ventures.

So to help you succeed in your future endeavors, here are five things you can do in the next week to get the needle moving in the right direction.

1. Get Specific

For those of you who are not familiar with SMART goals, the acronym stands for Specific, Measurable, Actionable, Realistic and Time-bound. SMART goals are part of an idea that has been around for decades and has helped businesses and individuals increase productivity and stay focused.

The reason SMART goals are back in favour is because the Internet allows us to measure and track most of what we do. In this section, we're going to focus on getting specific about our goals because that is usually the hardest part of the process.

If you could have 10 new clients today, but they all had to be a clone of one of your existing clients, who would the existing client be?

An ideal client is the one who is the most profitable, gives you the least amount of grief, is a joy to work with, refers you new business, pays on time and who you would genuinely like to have more of.

Once you have identified this client, ask yourself what industry they work in, the size of the business, their turnover, what kind of products and services they offer, how many staff they have, what their business aspirations are and what value YOU offer the relationship.

Now visit your website and read all of the pages, view all of the images and work your way through the site as if you were your number one client. I want you to imagine that this website has been built specifically for you.

Ask yourself these questions:

Does the language used on the website resonate with you? Are the images engaging to look at?

Is the information relevant and interesting?

Your website should be built for your number one client and nobody else. This is usually difficult to execute because we are afraid of potentially losing other clients. However, if we have identified who our number one client is, doesn't it make sense to then focus on just attracting more of them?

Actionable:

List all of the changes to the text and images you need to make on your website so that it appeals to your number one client.

2. Get Readable

One of the most important things to ensure on your website is quality content. If, while reading the content on your website, you lose interest after a few paragraphs, then you can expect your clients to get bored easily after reading a few lines. This is why, you need to have an effective and appealing content strategy in place, so that your clients do not leave your website within a few minutes of landing on it.

A simple content writing strategy should have something that would grab the client's Attention, Interest him, make them Desire the Services you have to offer, and finally, give them a reason to click on the Call to Action button.

Also, don't forget to include relevant keywords in your content to ensure that your website is well ranked on the search engine.

Actionable:

Make your content more interesting from the reader's point of view, add all the relevant LSI keywords in the text as well as page meta tags, to rank well on the search engines, and update your content as and when necessary.

3. Get Action

Most websites fail to achieve a measurable goal for the business because they fail to ask the user to take action. If the goal of your website is to encourage potential new clients to pick up the phone or email you with an enquiry, then you need to be explicit about asking them to take that action.

Have you ever been in a clothing boutique when the shop assistant asked you if you'd like to join their VIP club to receive a discount? Some of us join; most of us don't. But when was the last time you walked into a clothing boutique and asked them if you could join their VIP club? Never. The point is: if you don't ask, you don't get.

Actionable:

Identify the action you want your website visitors to take and make sure it is clear and obvious on every page throughout your site.

4. Get Faster

Let me ask you this; How long would you wait for a website to load before giving up and moving on to another one? Not very long, right?

The same principle applies to your own website.

In order to make it more appealing and engaging to your clients, you may include more interactive pictures and videos. However, due to the the large sizes of your images and videos, your website may take ages to load, and ultimately drive away all the potential clients away to your competitors.

Hence, you must optimize all your images along with your website, and also include relevant signals for each of them to improve the loading speed and search engine visibility.

Actionable:

Use the free plugin, WP Smush to optimize your images for faster loading speed, and add relevant signals like file name, alt text, title, description and caption to all your images for better search engine visibility.

5. Get Found

It's no secret that millions of people are using Google every day to search for information and answers to their questions. But it doesn't take black magic or superpowers to get your website found on Google. The first thing you need to ensure is that you are in the Google index. This is like making sure your card is in the library index so when someone searches for your type of book I can find you.

Type the following into the Google search engine to see if your website is in the Google index:

site:yourdomainname.com

Obviously replace "yourdomainname" with your actual website address. E.g. if I want to make sure my website is in the Google index I would type this into Google: site:http://bigrockcoupon.in

If your website is not in the Google index, you will need to open an account with Google Webmaster tools and submit your website to Google. Here's a great video from Jennifer at Google explaining how it works.

Actionable:

Make sure you are in the Google index so you can get found. If need be, instruct your web developer to submit your site to Google for you.

6. Get Shared

This is the part that requires actual work. You've probably heard a thousand times that the key to getting shared on social media is to create engaging content. Let me explain this in real world terms that you can understand.

Have you ever been at a party and found yourself quoting someone else from a conversation you had a few days ago? Have you ever been at a party and overheard somebody else quoting something you said earlier in the evening? The same principle applies to getting shared on social media. People share things on social media based on how it is going to make them look to their peers. So if nobody is sharing your content on social media, then you need to create different content.

Ask yourself what you could create that your number one client would be interested in sharing with their peers. Types of content can include a blog post, a free report, a video interview, a podcast or a free e-book just like this one you are reading. The key is to make it as useful as possible to number one client and make it easy for them to share.

Actionable:

Create one piece of content and share it with your number one client via LinkedIn, Twitter or Facebook.

7. Get Shared

The only way to improve your online activities over time is to measure what you are doing. Luckily, Google provides us with an amazing free tool to track how visitors are behaving on our website.

Google analytics should be installed on every page on your website and you should be reading your Google analytics reports once a week to understand how your audience are responding to you.

Here is a free video from Grovo to show you how to get started with Google analytics: <http://www.grovo.com/get-started-with-google-analytics/install-the-tracking-code>

Actionable:

Make sure Google analytics is installed on your website and that you can access the reports to read every week.

Conclusion

The Internet provides business owners with huge opportunities to connect with new clients and better service our existing clients. It also provides us with an enormous amount of information, white noise and distraction.

The aim of this short e-book is to cut through the clutter and give you some actionable steps that will make a real difference to how your website is performing for your business.
